MURDERED IN A SALOON.
A HOBOKEN POLITICIAN KILLED BY AN ACQUAINTANCE.
WILLIAM REID FIRED THREE SHOTS AT ANDREW HENRY, ALL TAKING EFFECT—CAUSE OF THE TROUBLE NOT KNOWN.

Andrew Henry, thirty years old, a member of the Hoboken Democratic City Committee, who lived at No. 91 Willow-ave, Hoboken, was murdered by William Reid, an acquaintance, in that city last night.

Reid lived over John C. Woltmann's saloon, at No. 158 Newark-st. At 7:30 o'clock he entered the saloon and approached Henry, who was standing at the bar drinking with Allison Mather, Edward Watson and Charles Woltmann. Tapping Henry on the shoulder, Reid said, "I want to see you outside for a minute."

The two men walked to the sidewalk, and the people in the barroom heard the report of a revolver. A few seconds later Henry ran into the saloon and fell on the floor.

Reid followed him in with the smoking revolver in his hand, and exclaimed, "I've got you now where I want you!" and discharged the revolver twice again in quick succession. Both bullets entered Henry's head, and he died almost instantly. The first shot, which was fired in the street, took effect in the young man's stomach.

The crowd in the saloon attempted to seize Reid while he had the revolver in his hand, but he brandished the weapon and held them at bay. As he was leaving the place Reid was arrested by Policemen Haw and Borrome and Detective Fallon.

Reid made no statement when taken to Police Headquarters, and appeared little excited when locked up. He is thirty-six years old, a laborer, unmarried, and has lived in Hoboken for only seven or eight months.

Henry, the murdered man, is the son of Thomas Henry, a well-known pile-driving contractor. He was born and brought up in Hoboken, and was recently appointed a member of the Hoboken City Democratic Committee in the Fourth Ward, to take the place of Councilman J. J. McGovern, resigned.

The police were unable last night to ascertain the motive of the crime. The entire Fourth Ward was greatly worried over it, but no one seems to have any knowledge of the trouble which led to the killing.

NO CURTAILMENT YET AT FALL RIVER.
MILLS UNABLE TO AGREE ON A PLAN—A SALE REPORTED AT 15-16.

Fall River, Mass., May 14 (Special)—The print cloth market is steady and firm at 15 cents, at which figure offers were refused during the last week. The sales were about 100,000 pieces, and all were odds. On several styles of the latter, however, the quotation is said to have been better than two cents.

Mill mills have not yet yielded on any plan of curtailment. It is probable that each treasurer will act in the matter as will best suit his interests.

A sale was reported in the market late this afternoon at 15-16. It was also stated that the merchants would start up next week and that the Saturday market would shut down. A paper that was passed on the day of the strike for curtailment was signed by only two treasurers. The latter are not willing to bind themselves to any agreement, as previously mentioned, as they are not sure such moves are not conducive to individual prosperity.

MADDEN BY THE SIGHT OF BLOOD.
A LAD, WHO INJURED HIMSELF SLIGHTLY, CHASED HIS MOTHER WITH A KNIFE.

Eric Johnson, nine years old, of Bloomfield, N. J., caused considerable excitement on Friday night by chasing his mother through the streets with a broad knife. The Johnsons live in Racquet, a boy was sent to the cellar to cut wood. He accidentally struck his knee with the hatchet, causing a wound from which blood flowed slightly.

The sight of the blood seemed to madden the lad. He ran upstairs, seized the knife from the kitchen table and rushed to the street. The boy, brandishing the knife, pursued her to Bloomfield-ave, where her cries were heard by a policeman, who arrested him.

Johnson, and after a struggle, in which the boy fought furiously, the knife was taken from him and he was led home.

RAILLOADING AN ARMY TO CAMP.
The Long Island Railroad Company has, since Camp Black came into existence, given splendid evidence of its ability to handle heavy traffic on short notice. For instance, on May 2, between 9:30 and 4 p. m., the road transported 8,500 men, with baggage and equipment. In less than seven hours 10 coaches and 200 carsloads of baggage and equipment were moved. Again, the Quartermaster's Department one day wanted forty carsloads of wood. At 8 p. m. a train was ordered, and at 2 a. m. the next day ten carsloads were on the sidetrack at the camp. Moreover, to aid in the work of sheltering and making comfortable the troops in the shortest possible time, 6,000 feet of track was built in one day, with men and material brought from a distance. The company is able to meet any big call from the camp or elsewhere, as it has a total of 450 passenger cars concentrated at one point. It may be said that the company has been in the war with its employes in good standing who goes to the war will be reinstated in his situation on presentation of his honorable discharge.
